Leading Features of Markets at the East Liberty Yards.

FEW PRIME CATTLE OFFERINGS.

Run of Euripe Hogs Very Heavy and Markets Demoralized.

SHEEP AND LAMBS DRIFTING DOWN

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH DISPATCH, WEDNESDAY, October 23, 1889.

The general tone of markets shows no improvement on last week, but the reverse. The situation has been in favor of buyers all along the line. The biggest drop has been in hogs, which were from 20 to 30 cents lower than they were this time last week.

Cattle receipts were close to 50 loads larger this week than last. For two weeks previous the run was about 200 carloads each week for our local trade. This number was far beyond the wants of trade, and last week receipts dropped to 100 loads, which amount was as much below wants of trade as the previous week's receipts were above. On Monday 130 loads were reported, and additional receipts since have brought the total close up to 140 car loads.

A Very Small Run.

The proportion of prime cattle in this week's run was unusually small. A leading stockman gives as the reason for light receipts of prime cattle, that the buyers are generally going to headquarters, or sources of supply for their cattle. Said he: "Nearly all high grade cattle are now held by strong hands in the country, who being unwilling to sell at prevailing rates, force the exporters to come to them. The farmers who hold the finer grades of cattle are able to bid their time. They gather in the small bunches of this grade from their neighbors and finish them up for exporters, then wait for the buyers to come. The farmers who hold large numbers of prime cattle are shipped through the yards of Kentucky and Ohio direct to the coast, and very few come to our market as compared with former years."

The general range of stockmen called at Liberty this week was not so sharp decline as last week. The market for hogs was very quiet. The highest price reached was $4.50. A few loads not quite so fine brought $4.30.

Good butcher stock.

Good butcher stock was manifested in corn, and transactions were at slightly higher prices. The better tone was due largely to the smaller quantity of offerings. The market was very quiet. The highest price reached was $4.50. A few loads not quite so fine brought $4.30.

Lard and tallow.

Lard and tallow were doing in a speculative way, and the feeling stronger. A prominent local operator purchased November lard at 10 1/2 cents, and was very much pleased with the result. The market was very quiet. The highest price reached was $4.50. A few loads not quite so fine brought $4.30.

Sheep and lambs.

The supply of cattle being liberal, and a small amount of sheep, the market for sheep was very slow and lower, in fact the worst market of the season.
